

Nevada Academic Content Standards

In October 2010, the Nevada State Board of Education adopted the Nevada Academic Content Standards (NVACS) for English language arts (ELA) and mathematics. To learn more about the ELA and mathematics NVACS, parents/guardians may refer to:

www.doe.nv.gov/Standards\_Instructional\_Support/Nevada\_Academic\_Content\_Standards/.

Additional NVACS are available for computer science, digital learning/distance education, fine arts, information literacy, world language, health and physical education, pre-kindergarten, science, social studies, and career and technical education. To learn more about these content areas, parents/guardians may refer to:

Additional Resources

The Nevada Department of Education offers a variety of instructional resources to support an understanding of the NVACS. These resources provide a starting point for developing lessons, units of instruction, aligned assignments, and common assessments. To learn more about these resources, parents/guardians may refer to:

www.doe.nv.gov/Standards\_Instructional\_Support/Materials\_Resource\_Center/.

The CCSD Guidance and Counseling Department provides important information for parents/guardians and students. The Moving on to Middle School Transitional Planning Guide provides students with information regarding the transition to middle school. Resource documents for parents/guardians and students are available at: <http://ccsd.net/departments/guidance-counseling>.
